Bending Plate

To bend the ribs (the sides of the instrument), a bending iron is used in violin making. A flexible bending sheet ensures that the course of the ribs is even. It is used to pull the ribs toward the bending iron.

back