

Boxwood

Boxwood belongs to the botanical family of buxus and is used for the scroll, tailpiece, bushers, heads and filling material. Its wood is firm and very dense with a light yellow color. The dark color of the pegs and tailpiece is achieved with the use of dye (often saltpeter acid).

back